Questions to ask interviewees:

1. How would you make sure to integrate culturally responsive teaching in your classroom?
2. What form of technology would you be sure to include in your classroom?
3. How could technology help culturally and linguistically diverse learners?

Points to discuss:

- Technology is beneficial for all students
- Applications can help culturally and linguistically diverse learners, there are applications that can translate words or have readings in a different language.
- I have created an ePortfolio to showcase all of my hard work with technology, which holds projects and lessons I have created to integrate into my future classroom.
- Technology is constantly developing and students in today's society are very involved in technology so it will help keep the students engaged.
- Important to research a new application or tool before implementing it.
- Tools can help students who struggle reading by reading aloud and having them follow along with the words.
- Some tools help make the classroom fun, such as QR codes.
